

Adam Feinstein

Vesey Street Capital Partners
Founder & Managing Partner

Adam Feinstein is the Founder & Managing Partner of Vesey Street Capital Partners (VSCP) with 30 years of investment experience exclusively in healthcare services. VSCP is a healthcare services private equity firm focused exclusively on lower middle market buyouts. The firm partners with the founders as the first private equity investor in a company and is also focused on corporate carve-outs. Before founding VSCP, he held leadership roles on Wall Street and in the healthcare industry. He was Senior Vice President of Corporate Development, Strategic Investments, and Office of the CEO at LabCorp, following a successful career as a Managing Director at Lehman Brothers/Barclays Capital.

As Chairman of VSCP's Investment Committee, Mr. Feinstein actively works with portfolio company executives, sources new investment opportunities, and oversees all firm activities. He serves on numerous boards – Inceptua, Shemmassian Academic Consulting, ComplexCare Solutions, AirSculpt Technologies (NASDAQ: AIRS), ScribeAmerica, Safecor Health, GastroMD, and PathGroup. Previously, he served on the boards of QualityMetric, Imedex, and Surgery Partners (NASDAQ: SGRY).

Mr. Feinstein's industry influence stems from the deep relationships he built at Lehman Brothers and LabCorp. As a CFA charterholder, he holds a BS in business from the Smith School at the University of Maryland and was part of the inaugural class of Nashville's Healthcare Council Fellows program.

“Throughout my 30-year career, I have been fortunate to build inner circle relationships with key stakeholders throughout the healthcare services industry. We leverage those networks today to source deals and help our portfolio companies grow at Vesey Street Capital Partners. I am honored that my colleague, Mike Doyle, calls me the ‘Kevin Bacon of the Healthcare PE world.’ I feel this level of experience is a key differentiator.” – Adam Feinstein
